

The EIM Solution

A Community Care Collaborative to Combat Chronic Disease Progression

Exercise is Medicine® (EIM) has launched a community care collaborative that translates current scientific and practice-based evidence into an innovative “solution” linking Healthcare Stakeholders with Community Resources. The EIM Solution is designed to extend healthcare into communities with a robust implementation structure that builds a Bridge of Trust between Clinical Care Teams (Health Systems) and Community Care Teams (EIM Professionals). This collaborative is intended to promote the community-wide adoption of Population Health Management (PHM) to slow, stop and reverse the progression of chronic diseases (e.g., obesity, diabetes, hypertension and hyperlipidemia).

The American College of Sports Medicine (ACSM) manages the EIM global health initiative and deploys the Network Builders Team (NBT) of experts to apply the EIM Solution in any given community with the leadership of health systems by executing the EIM Action Plans in coordination with community care Collaborators.
